Seeing a forlorn four-legged hairball running down the street is all it takes for me to get started. My senses tingle, my heart pounds, my breathing becomes raspy and I go into a frenzy. Everything blurs as I become thoroughly focused. I become a determined woman on a mission to save the dog.

Q 21

Text 2

The extract below is taken from an article about air-conditioners.

Nowadays, everyone is buying eco-friendly air-conditioners. However, their impact on carbon footprint may be limited. Companies often highlight their efficiency without evidence of long-term energy saving, misleading consumers into believing that they are making a difference by purchasing those products.

To make informed choices, consumers must look beyond advertising campaigns that label air-conditioners as eco-friendly. Official energy ratings, certifications and independent reviews are more reliable sources of information. They help consumers consider how much energy the products genuinely save, how long they will last, and how much maintenance they will require. It makes more sense to purchase air-conditioners that are durable and easy to maintain. The less often we repair or discard faulty machines, the eco-friendlier we are.

For each question from 21 to 25, choose the best answer. Shade your answer (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet. (5 marks)

21. According to the poster in Text 1, which of the following is true of BreezyCon air-conditioners?

- (1) They use very little electricity.
- (2) They can be purchased online.
- (3) They do not affect the environment.
- (4) The company has served some customers well.

22. "A better future starts with smarter choices." The writer uses this slogan to _____.

- (1) give people a hint of BreezyCon's benefits
- (2) make people feel bad for not choosing BreezyCon
- (3) lead people to think that BreezyCon is a smart choice
- (4) get people to reflect about the choices they have made

23. Based on the poster in Text 1, which of the following would be the main selling point of the BreezyCon air-conditioner?

- (1) It helps you save energy.
- (2) It helps to cool the planet.
- (3) It comes with free consultation.
- (4) It has happy customer reviews.

24. "Eco-friendly cooling for a greener tomorrow!" The picture supports this by giving the impression that BreezyCon air-conditioners _____.

- (1) make people feel cool and comfortable at home
- (2) are used by people who care about the environment
- (3) provide a favourable environment for indoor plants to grow
- (4) can be recycled when people want to upgrade their air-conditioners

25. We cannot trust the way Text 1 promotes BreezyCon air-conditioners because Text 2 says _____.

- (1) nowadays, everyone is buying eco-friendly air-conditioners
- (2) companies often highlight [eco-friendly air-conditioners'] efficiency
- (3) [eco-friendly air-conditioners']...impact on carbon footprint may be limited
- (4) it makes more sense to purchase air-conditioners that are durable and easy to maintain

Please note that the passage for Comprehension questions 66 to 75 in Booklet B is on page 8. You may now go on to Booklet B.

Refer to the passage below when you answer questions 66 to 75 in Booklet B.

Eleven-year-old Jaden did not understand why anyone would choose to eat at a hawker centre. The air was thick with smoke, the floor was sticky, and seriously — there was no air-conditioning.
But Jaden's mother had a sudden craving. "Just a quick plate of chicken rice," she pleaded, eyes scanning the row of bustling stalls, then leaving him at a vacant table while she queued. Near Jaden's table, an old man with wispy white hair sat alone, chewing slowly on a spoonful of porridge. Then, the old man turned to the drink stall lady beside them and pointed at Jaden. The lady called out, "Boy! This uncle wants to buy you a drink."	5
Jaden stiffened, bewildered by the stranger's offer. Mother returned just in time with her rice and quickly said, "Oh, no need, uncle. He's fine, really."	10
The old man gestured again, insistent. The drink stall auntie leaned over. "He's like that. This neighbourhood, mostly old folks now. Not many young ones anymore. Every time he sees a kid, he surely buys them a drink."
Mother hesitated. Then, glancing at the old man's face, she whispered to Jaden, "Just pick something. We don't want to disappoint him."	15
Jaden dragged his feet to the drink stall. The old man stood slowly to join him. "You... like... 100 Plus?" the old man asked in a thick dialect. Jaden only understood the words "100 Plus" and nothing else, but nodded his head anyway. It was easier than asking the old man to repeat himself.	20
"Good... good for hot day," the old man said, voice raspy.
Jaden mumbled a reply, but the man cupped a hand around his ear. That was when Jaden noticed the hearing aid behind his ear. "Thank you!" Jaden said more loudly. The old man beamed, then paid the auntie with a crumpled 2-dollar note.
As they turned to walk, the old man caught his foot on the uneven tile and gripped Jaden's arm to steady himself. A shudder shot up Jaden's spine that instant — the skin on the old man's hand was cool and loose, with veins popping like the roots of an old tree. He swallowed the urge to pull away, matching the old man's shuffling steps to his seat. Mother rose from her seat, ready to step in to help. Tension was building in her chest, but when she saw Jaden keeping his composure, she eased back to her seat.	25 30
After finishing his porridge, the man raised a hand in farewell and made his slow way out of the hawker centre. Jaden pretended not to notice. Later, on the way to the toilet, Jaden spotted the old man again near the back exit. He was wobbling to lift his foot up onto the platform of his personal mobility device. People walked past him. A few glanced, but nobody stopped.	35
Jaden almost walked past too, but something tugged at his chest. He turned back. "Uncle, wait. I'll help you."
The old man looked up in surprise, before reaching for Jaden's arm for support with a smile. Jaden did not flinch this time. Together, slowly, they got him seated. Jaden watched as the old man rode off. The warmth of his touch lingered on Jaden's skin, like good memories linger on in our minds.	40

You can continue learning during the upcoming holidays. Learn _____ (26) science by making your own groovy lamp. This activity is recommended because you are likely to have all the materials lying around _____ home. (27)

To start, fill _____ (28) clear jar three-quarters full of water. Next, add drops of food colouring to _____. (29) Stop only when you like what you see. Always remember to handle food colouring carefully since a _____ (30) goes a long way.
Consider including glitter for _____ (31) sparkly effect. After that, pour salt into the jar until you see the cool lava lamp effect. To watch _____ (32) lava lamp glow, shine a flashlight behind the jar.

The secret behind these observations _____ (33) to do with liquid densities.
Because oil is lighter than water, it floats. _____ (34), salt sinks to the bottom as it is heavier as compared to water. When salt is added, globs of oil attach to the salt grains and sink. When the salt dissolves, the oil returns to the top. The result repeats every time salt is added to the mixture. I think _____ (35) a spectacular liquid show for the eyes! So, try it out!

In China, researchers have _____ that a similar story has been popular for more than a thousand years. This story is _____ as Ye Xian. The modern Cinderella story was written by a French _____ and became popular through the animation of Disney.

Initially, fairytales were deemed to be for children, especially during the 1800s and early 1900s. However, in the last 20 years, they have become a big part of the entertainment industry for _____ adults and children. To appeal to their _____, many authors and directors adapt the plot in their books and movies.
