Text 2

The extract below is taken from an article about 'Batik'.

Batik is a technique of wax-resist dyeing which originated from Indonesia. It utilises wax and fabric dye to create breathtaking patterns and designs on various kinds of cloth such as cotton, silk and linen. First, liquid wax is applied to a pattern on a piece of cloth. Next, the cloth is dyed. As the pattern resists colouring, it remains on the cloth when the wax is melted away.

Batik was most commonly used for making clothing back in the old days. Most women in Indonesia made a living making batik. Batik making was exclusive work for women in the beginning. In the 17th century, the Dutch brought batik back to Europe. Batik then caught the attention of Western designers. Today, fashion designers all over the world use batik in their clothing designs. Interior designers also feature batik patterns in home decorations, from blankets to cushion covers to wallpaper.

For each question from 21 to 25, four options are given. One of them is the correct answer. Make your choice (1, 2, 3 or 4) and shade your answer on the Optical Answer Sheet. (5 marks)

- 21 Tina would like a discounted price for the workshop. What must she do?
- (1) Attend the workshop with a friend

  - (3) Bring her own materials to the workshop
  - (4) Register for the workshop before 15 November 2025
- 22 "We eat, sleep and breathe batik". The writer use this line in Text 1 to show that he _____.
- (1) wants to promote batik
  - (2) loves batik as an art form
  - (3) conducts batik workshops every day
  - (4) is successful in the sale of batik in Singapore
- 23 In Text 1, children below 9 years old are discouraged from attending the workshop because _____.
- (1) it might be dangerous for them
  - (2) the batik patterns are too complicated
  - (3) they are too energetic to sit for long hours
  - (4) there are not enough adults to supervise them
- 24 The visual in Text 1 gives the impression that batik can be _____.
- (1) displayed as a painting
  - (2) purchased by the public
  - (3) used only to make clothes
  - (4) worn by anyone of all ages
- 25 What is the main idea evident in both Texts 1 and 2?
- (1) Batik is very popular in Singapore.
  - (2) Batik can only be produced by women.
  - (3) Batik can be used to make a variety of items.
  - (4) Batik making is challenging and time-consuming.

(Go on to Booklet B)

Please note that the passage for Comprehension questions 66 to 75 is on the next page. You may now go on to Booklet B.

Refer to the passage below when you answer questions 66 to 75 in Booklet B.

Paul pushed the door open, leading Jim in. They saw the instructor, Mr Martin. Mr Martin welcomed Jim and instructed Paul to show Jim some warm-up exercises. Jim sniggered as Paul showed him some hip bends and arm stretching exercises. Jim commented, "You look like you are doing a dance." Frowning, Paul asked Jim to try but Jim's attention was on Mr Martin who was demonstrating to six other members at the fencing school how to lunge with a foil- the sword used in fencing. It was so fast that Jim could not follow it. 5

The other members were soon panting on the floor. Mr Martin walked over to Jim with a chest protector and a mask. "See if these fit you. There is no real danger in this if you follow the rules and not get too close to each other," he said before showing Jim how to lunge but Jim kept giggling. He could not get his arms and legs to work together correctly. Finally, Mr Martin whipped off his mask and spoke in an annoyed tone. "You are not interested! Why did you even come?" 10

Staring down at his shoes, Jim replied, "It's not tough like basketball or football. All you try to do is to touch each other with these fake swords you call foil. It's kind of silly." Mr Martin pondered for a second and called out to one of the members. "Let Jim do the glove exercise," he said. Donna removed the fencing glove from her hand and held it against the wall. She instructed Jim to lunge and pin the glove against the wall with the tip of the foil when she dropped it. "That's all?" Jim smirked, thinking it was an easy task. 15

Donna dropped the glove. Jim lunged and missed. The glove slid to the floor. The smile on Jim's face vanished. He tried again and again. Wiping the sweat from his forehead, he exclaimed, "There has to be a trick to it!" but all Donna did was shake her head. "Let's see you do it then," Jim said. They changed position and it was Jim's turn to drop the glove. Donna, with precision, stabbed it. Jim's jaw dropped. Not wanting to admit defeat, Jim tried repeatedly and finally caught the glove. 20

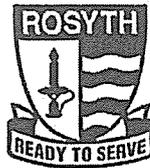

At that moment, Paul walked over. "Let's try a little fencing. We'll fence along this line," Paul said pointing to the line on the floor. "Don't get too close or the foil will break and I will have to pay for it." They began and it quickly turned into a fierce competition. 25

"Stop, you are too close to each other!" Mr Martin shouted. The boys did not hear him. Jim lunged and his foil hit Paul's chest. The foil bent and snapped. As Jim fell forward, his only thought was to move his hand with the broken foil away from Paul. However, the broken end of the foil grazed one side of Paul's body before both of them collided. The two boys went down in a heap. Paul clutched his side, grimacing in pain. 30

Mr Martin removed Paul's mask and chest protector as everyone gathered in silence. Mr Martin examined the cut on Paul's body and was glad that it was not serious. Paul could barely move. Mr Martin, together with Jim, lifted Paul gently and led him to the nearby clinic.

At the clinic, as Mr Martin spoke to the receptionist, Jim felt tears well up in his eyes. Moments later, the doctor appeared and examined Paul. Worry soon turned to relief when the doctor explained that Paul was fine. Soon, everyone was back to the fencing school. There, Mr Martin asked Jim, "So do you still think that fencing is not tough?" Jim's face turned red. 35

High in the dense bamboo forests in southwestern China lives one of the world's cutest mammals - the giant panda. (26) _____ are considered a national treasure in China and adored by many people around the world.

Giant pandas have round black ears and black patches surrounding their eyes. They have a white face, neck and torso which are (27) _____ contrast to the black fur that covers their limbs, tail, legs and shoulders. (28) _____ thick and oily, their fur also acts as (29) _____ coat to keep them warm in the cool and moist bamboo forests.

Pandas eat almost nothing (30) _____ bamboo. In fact, they are obsessed with bamboo. Pandas' teeth are very broad and flat. The shape of the teeth helps them to crush the shoots, leaves and stems so (31) _____ they can digest the bamboo more easily.

Destruction of habitat and illegal hunting are two main reasons that the number of giant pandas (32) _____ dwindling. In addition, pandas are slow breeders and do not give birth to many cubs. Thankfully, scientists and conservationists are working to protect pandas and their homes (33) _____ creating sanctuaries, studying their behaviour and helping them reproduce.

As a result of (34) _____ efforts, the status of the giant panda has been changed from endangered to vulnerable (35) _____ 2021. This means that the animal is still threatened but faces a lesser risk of extinction than before.

I was playing golf with my friends on a Friday afternoon. We had almost reached the end of the game when the downpour starts and we ran quickly for shelter.

(37)
We were standing under the shelter and while waiting, we started rowdy joking and teasing one another. It was then that we noticed that the air had a strange and (38)

owkuard smell to it.

In that moment, a lightning bolt hit. When it happened, there werè red flashing
(39)  (40)
lights. Then, there were the loudest noise I had ever heard. I was complitly frozen.

Oddly, I was feeling a cold sensation, and it was like nothing I had ever felt before.

At the same time, my body was feeling burning hot too. It was as though I had been (41)
slamed between two huge trucks.

(42)
My limbs were heavy, and every part of my body was at pain. The pain was both (43)
dull and sharp. It was like a sevear headache with the sensation of millions of needles piercing my antyre body.

(44)

(45)
The lightning bolt had strike a tree next to the shelter and bounced off to us.

We were left speechless and stunned. Fortunately, all of us survived the ordeal. It was a miracle.

While most are still in dreamland, Bowen Beckman wakes up at five in the morning every Tuesday to fulfil another kind of dream. He _____ the lift to the top floor of his condominium block and collects recycling bags laid out for him at the various doorsteps. Once he has four bags in hand and can no _____ pick up anymore, he throws them into a bin which his father wheels behind him. Bowen is only six years old but already making a big _____ on the environment.

He completes his _____ of bags and newspaper stacks an hour later. He sorts the items and puts them into different bins for paper, metal and plastics before getting _____ ready for breakfast and pre-school. These items _____ then picked up by a waste collection company.

"I _____ to find it difficult to wake up, but what I am doing is good for the earth and I have already made it a habit now," Bowen shared in a recent interview. Bowen decided to start the recycling service after _____ a documentary in June. He was disturbed to find out that polar bears are losing _____ homes when ice caps melt because of the excessive use _____ fossil fuels. He spent a day crafting letters to send to the housing management, asking for their _____ to take his neighbours' recyclable trash downstairs. The management board gave the _____ light and many households _____ up for his service after he went around to distribute flyers and seek support.

After three months, his idea attracted the _____ of other children in the condominium. The children then _____ their own collection service in the other blocks. As a result, the waste management initiative quickly expanded throughout the community.
